Throwing down more than just rocks...

In today's Gospel we experience the famous account of the woman caught in adultery. Jesus, both protects her from the stones collected by the scribes and Pharisees and frees her from condemnation, sending her aggressors away with the exposition of their own sinfulness. It is a sober reminder for us neither to judge nor condemn, but to realise that we too can be hypocrites in our own right. It is Jesus who is the Supreme Judge; He acquits, and He saves where there is repentance. But perhaps today Jesus is inviting us to lay down more than just rocks and stones. There are many things we can cling to; that we can invest in and put our hope in, that God asks us to surrender. Indeed, God is "doing a new deed" as He explains through Isaiah in our 1st reading. The Lord seeks to reform us as a people who are formed for Himself and who sing His praises. Yet, in order to receive and experience these graces, He asks us not to "recall the past" or "think about what was done before". There are so many things we can carry in our own lives that ultimately become, not a joy, but a burden to us and weigh us down. They can take the form of resentment and unforgiveness; of prejudice; of selfishness and covetousness; a love for sin; a habit of self-righteousness and ignorance of truth in favour of our own plans and ideas. We might have a plan for our lives or had a plan for our lives. Whether these plans of ours have not worked out or remain to be ahead of us, it is right to lay them down. For God is calling us to a new way, to a better way. He gives us many gifts and many desires, dreams and ambitions, but He asks us to give them to Him. For in Him do we find true expression of our gifts, true fulfilment of our desires and true hope, peace and love whatever the struggle.

It can become a habit for us to continue to live our lives in the way that we are used to, often falling into the same traps again and again. But God does not condemn us, nor does He forget us. He raises us up, like the woman in today's Gospel, and frees us from the burden of guilt, saying to us "go away, and don't sin anymore". In other words, 'do not live as you have been living or in the way that you have become used to', but rather 'live with Me and I shall show You a better way'. Thus, let us no longer allow anything to "outweigh the supreme advantage of knowing Christ Jesus", as St Paul proclaims in our 2nd reading, but rather let us seek after only "the perfection that comes through faith in Christ, and is from God and based on faith". Praised be Jesus Christ, now and forever! Deacon Joseph

FIRE SAFETY IN THE CHURCH

If the fire alarm sounds, the building must be evacuated, even if there is no sign of fire.

Provided no exits are blocked by fire, the exits should be used as follows:

- those seated in the N-aisle should leave through the sacristy
- those in the S-aisle should leave through the door on the S-side of the church (Darlston Rd side)
- people in the 2 centre aisles should leave through the main entrance at the rear of the church
- and wheel-chair & mobility impaired members of the congregation should exit through the sliding door that leads onto the ramp. All other exits have steps, so if the ramp exit is blocked by fire, they may need assistance to exit the church.

To meet up with family members or friends, you should move to the Fire Assembly Point situated on the lawn outside the church. Do not return to the building unless you are authorised to do so. Comply with any instructions given by Fire Wardens. Fire extinguishers can be found at various points around the building but do not use them unless you have been trained to do so. In the event of a fire being discovered you can activate the fire alarm by striking/pushing the glass on one of the fire call points/break glass call points which can be found at all the last exit doors. It is important to keep calm, and not to panic or run.
